

DEMOCRATIC ACTS

Great Tariff Bill, Efficient Currency and Anti-Trust Laws.

WILL STICK TO THE PILOT.

People Have Absolute Confidence in Woodrow Wilson and Are Not Likely to Drop Him.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 1.—Speaker Champ Clark, of the national house of representatives in a speech at the Democratic state banquet here to-night, reviewed the legislative record of the Democratic party and expressed confidence in the verdict of the voters in the election of 1916. Speaker Clark said in part:

"To millions of voters, the present political situation is entirely novel. At every presidential election since 1896 the Republicans have held the federal government and the Democrats were fighting to wrest it from their iron grasp. Now all this is changed—and as we believe, changed for the better.

"For years those who love us not asserted that Democrats were a party of negation, that we did not have sense enough to legislate. Unfortunately for the country a majority of the people believed their jibberish for a long, long time. We wandered in the wilderness as long as did Moses, but at last the scales fell from the people's eyes and they concluded to entrust us with power once more.

"What happened? In two brief years we placed on the statute books more constructive legislation of the most highly beneficial character than the Republicans enacted in two decades—legislation so good that in addition to Democratic votes, nearly all the Progressives and a large percent of the regular Republicans voted for our great constructive measures.

"We passed a great tariff bill—the greatest ever placed upon the statute books. It contains many excellent changes from the Payne-Aldrich-Smoot monstrosity and it contains one new feature that would make it the best of all tariff bills even if the rest of it were as bad as the last Republican tariff bill, which most emphatically it is not. That new feature is the income tax. I make bold to predict that the income tax provision never will be repealed, no matter what party gets hold of the law-making power.

"It is said the Underwood tariff bill does not bring in as much revenue as the Payne-Aldrich-Smoot bills. We who made the Underwood bill knew when we made it that the revenues from tariff taxes would not be as large under our bill as under the old Republican bill. We drew it so on purpose: that was one of the ends sought. Also knowing that the government would need about as much money as usual, we made up by the income tax feature the loss in tariff taxes.

"Republican orators assert that the Underwood tariff bill, even including the income tax feature did not bring in revenue enough to conduct the government—which is absolutely untrue. Everybody knows that there is a deficiency in the revenue and that the deficiency was caused and still is being caused by the European war.

"We had for more than half a century a financial system of shreds and patches with a currency system almost devoid of elasticity.

"For a generation our Republican friends had been tinkering with it—always promising but never achieving currency reform. The Democrats with the assistance of patriotic Progressives and a patriotic contingent of Republicans placed on the statute books the national reserve bank act which is now praised by all business.

"We passed an anti-trust law which tends to promote legitimate business and crush illegitimate business. Under the new law trusts are being dissolved and are re-arranging their business on a legitimate basis.

"The people seem to have absolute confidence in the pilot of the Ship of State—Woodrow Wilson—and are not likely to drop him overboard in mid-ocean while the storm whips the waters into fury. He did his duty, the Democratic house did its duty, the Democratic senate did its duty. We submit that we deserve well of the republic—all of us. Having discharged our duty and been faithful to our trust—the people will assume that we will do our duty and be faithful even to the end."

Jobs for Women.

Anderson Intelligencer.

"It is jobs that women need," says Dean Johnson of New York University. "If they could all land something to do that would interest them and pay them enough so that they could live decently, I think we would very soon hear little about this terrible unrest which seems to be causing so much trouble these days."

It's doubtless true. In spite of all the sentiment that has been wasted on women who are "forced to leave their homes and go out into the world to earn their living," it's likely that most of those same women are far more contented doing something "out in the world" than they would be at home, engaged in petty or useless cares or folding their hands in old-fashioned idleness.

Idleness palls on a live woman no less than a live man. And the idleness of unemployed women becomes more and more intolerable, as one by one the domestic tasks that once belonged to the feminine members of the household have been taken from her by the new social organization. Her wool is spun, her cloth is woven, her garments come ready-made for her and her children. Her fruits and jellies are canned in factories. Her bread is baked just as well and as cheaply as she can bake it. Her butter and milk are delivered at her door. Efficient and inexpensive laundries relieve her of back-breaking toil. Vacuum cleaners lighten her work. Everything tends to give her more leisure than her grandmother had. And with the energy released by this new leisure, it would be remarkable indeed if she were not "restless"—particularly when almost any women of brains feels that she could make more than enough money in congenial employment to employ unambitious servants for her routine household work.

Men and women are by no means so different as people have imagined—certainly not so different as men have imagined. Man's greatest need and blessing has always been a job; and it's perfectly natural that women now should experience the same need.

Declaration and Petition for Incorporation.

The undersigned declarants and petitioners, Robt. S. Brown, Green Gaither, Ben Robinson, being two or more of the officers or agents appointed to supervise or manage the affairs of the Colored Presbyterian Church, a corporation which has been duly and regularly organized for the purposes hereinafter to be set forth, do affirm and declare:

That at a meeting of the aforesaid organization, held pursuant to the by-laws or regulations of the said organization, they were authorized and directed to apply for incorporation.

That the said organization holds, or desires to hold, property in common for a Religious, Educational, Social, Fraternal, Charitable or other eleemosynary purpose or any two or more of said purposes, and is not organized for the purpose of profit or gain to the members, otherwise than as above stated, or for the insurance of life, health, accident or property.

Sixth. That they desire to be incorporated nine hundred and ninety-nine years.

Wherefore your petitioners pray that the Secretary of State do issue to the aforesaid Colored Presbyterian Church Certificate of Incorporation, with all the rights, powers, privileges and immunities a subject to all the limitations and liabilities conferred by an Act of the General Assembly of South Carolina entitled: "An Act to provide for the incorporation of Religious, Educational, Social, Fraternal or Charitable Churches, Lodges, Societies, Association, or Companies, and for amending the Charters of those already formed and to be formed," approved February 19, A. D. 1906, and other provisions of law.

Given under our hands and seals, this 27th day of Sept. A. D. 1915.

ROBT. S. BROWN,
GREEN GAITHER,
BEN ROBINSON.

The Colds of Mankind Cured by Pines

Have you ever gone through a typical pine forest when you had a cold? What a vigorous impulse it sent! How you opened wide your lungs to take in those invigorating and mysterious qualities. Yes, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey possesses those stimulating qualities and overcomes hacking coughs. The inner lining of the throat is strengthened in its attack against cold germs. Every family needs a bottle constantly at hand. 25c.

MAKING THE SCHOOL ROOM ATTRACTIVE.

Southern School News.

"Make the school room attractive." How often do we hear this admonition, especially to young teachers. We give below a few suggestions which may prove helpful:

As with the attractive home, so with the school room, cleanliness is the first essential. Before school opens the school room should be thoroughly cleaned up. This is the janitor's work, where there is one, but if there is not some one should be hired for the work. Windows should be washed, the floors scoured, the blackboards washed and the chalk thorough brushed well and then washed. If the desks are very old or much soiled they should be washed, but if new and of highly polished finish they should be well dusted and wiped off with a cloth moistened with furniture polish or even with kerosene. Such treatment will help old desks wonderfully after their washing.

FINISHING TOUCHES.

After school opens there is generally little time for the teacher to spend in fixing up the room, at least till the confusion of opening is over, so if the teacher can do some of this before the session begins so much the better. It is not often that a teacher has much to do with the actual furnishing of the school room, the purchasing of desks, their arrangement, or the arrangement of blackboards, teacher's desk or any other permanent feature of the school room. She must take things as she finds them, but there is much in the way of finishing touches that may be added, and the wise teacher will do so.

Curtains should be put up unless the windows are above the level of the children's heads when standing. Of course, there should be window shades, but the teacher is not often expected to provide them. In choosing curtains for a school room be guided by sanitary sense (in many cases only common sense) and get washable material, preferably white. Sash curtains are to be preferred to full length ones.

THE TEACHER'S DESK.

The teacher's desk or table is an object of constant observation by pupils and visitors. It should be neatly kept at all times. Do not try to keep everything in the school house on the table. A large sheet of blotting paper will protect the desk from inkspots, which even teacher herself will make sometimes. If a table takes the place of a desk an attractive addition is a cover or runner of denim, crash, brown linen or burlap. The blotting paper may be placed on top of the cover. A waste basket by the desk will be an aid to neatness. If there is an open cabinet or bookshelf a curtain for the front made of material to match the table cover is not only ornamental, but a protection to the contents of the shelf.

PICTURES.

The pictures in a school room should be educational as well as decorative. This rule eliminates cheap, highly-colored unframed lithographs. In this day and time when good pictures may be had for small cost there is no excuse for having bad ones. If you have but one picture let it be one worth having. If it is worth having it is worth preserving in a frame. Magazine covers and illustrations, advertisement pictures and the like have their place in the school room, but that place is not tucked up on the wall as a permanent decoration.

The blackboards may be made ornamental as well as useful. Borders around the top will cover a space that can scarcely be reached by pupils or teacher for work. Borders are pleasing features of a school room and have the advantage of being easily applied and easily removed before the class is weary of them. Blackboard decorations for special occasions are splendid, but care should be taken not to let them out live their usefulness, or rather their appropriateness by allowing them to stay up long after the occasion for which they were made has passed. Work done by the pupils in manual training, art, nature study or composition may be used for display either by mounting on large cards or by tacking it to the molding of the blackboards. The same warning must be sounded again here; pupils' work should be changed often, as it is not of a nature to last long or to be interesting for any length of time.

ESTABLISH AN IDEAL.
The care of the school room throughout the term may be lightened by assistance from the pupils. Remember the Monitor of the Gold Fish Bowl of Myra Kelly fame. The more you use your executive ability the more it will mean to you in saving of labor for yourself and the more of educational value will your pupils get from their work. Establish an ideal of cleanliness, attractiveness and comfort in the school room and your pupils will take that ideal home with them, to the lasting good of themselves and the community.

Coughs That Are Stopped!

Careful people see that they are stopped. Dr. King's New Discovery is a remedy of tried merit. It has held its own on the market for 46 years. Youth and old age testify to its soothing and healing qualities. Pneumonia and lung troubles are often caused by delay of treatment. Dr. King's New Discovery stops those hacking coughs and relieves the grippe tendencies. Money back if it fails. 50c and $1.00.

Asthma-Catarrh and Bronchitis

Can Be Greatly Relieved by the New External Vapor Treatment.

Don't take internal medicines or habit-forming drugs for these troubles. Vick's "Vapo-Rub" Salve is applied externally and relieves by inhalation as a vapor and by absorption through the skin. For Asthma and Hay Fever, melt a little Vick's in a spoon and inhale the vapors, also rub well over the spinal column to relax the nervous tension. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.
